Wendy Maniatis,
co-founder of Sleeve-ons

Sleeve-ons are the newest must-have addition to any woman's wardrobe. Worn under or over sleeveless garments, they add short, three-quarter or long sleeves to an outfit.

The Brisbane born company was formed when Founder, Wendy Maniatis had an all too familiar dressing dilemma as the changing weather posed a problem for the outfit she had in mind.

"I work long hours and the weather can be totally different as the day goes on," Wendy said. "I wanted to wear my favourite sleeveless dress because I knew it would be warm enough later and found myself wishing I could just put on some temporary sleeves!"

With this, Wendy didn't just stick it out until mid morning like most of us are guilty of, but decided to take action.

"I went to the internet to look for such a thing, but to my utter surprise no such product existed," she continued. "With that, I sat down at my sewing machine, cut a pattern and made sleeves to help transform my sleeveless dress into a short-sleeved dress."

"In the days following, I made sleeves in a variety of colours, prints and lengths to suit the sleeveless garments in my wardrobe and then decided that every woman should have the same luxury."

Making any sleeveless item of clothing suitable for every season, Sleeve-ons can be worn under your garment and matched to the colour so it blends to look like sleeves, or coordinated with a pattern giving a bolder look. Alternatively, they can be worn over the outfit as a shrug creating a different look once again.

In the coming months, Wendy is working on additional styles with embellishments including pearls, cuffs, buttons, binding, ruching, rhinestones, fur, sparkles and sequins.

With all material sourced in Australia, the quality of Sleeve-ons is second to none and Wendy backs this up with a 100 per cent hassle-free policy for returns and exchanges.

"We understand that when buying online, you might order the incorrect size or sometimes just change your mind," Wendy said. "If this is the case, you can return the item within 30 days from the date of purchase for a full refund or exchange." ■
